

Humanity Our Religion

St Vincent college in collaboration with Snehasadan – Institute for the study of religion, hosted a thought-provoking program, "Humanity Our Religion," challenging traditional notions of religion. The program explored the potential for shared human values, like empathy and compassion, to act as a unifying force. Discussions centered on ethics, social justice, and building a better world. Students engaged with guest speakers and faculty, reflecting on how these values can guide their lives and contribute to a more just society. This program offered a unique perspective on the role of meaning and purpose in the modern world.
