A short narration of the program
Seminar on “Consumerism and Financial Literacy” St. Vincent College organized a two-day seminar lecture on "Consumerism and Financial Literacy" aimed at equipping students with essential knowledge on money management and consumer rights. The event took place on 28th and 29th August 2024 and saw active participation by students. More than 50 students participated in the seminar on each day. The resource person for the seminar was Mr. T. R. Pandey, Project Manager of the Consumer Guidance Society of India (CGSI), a leading organization committed to consumer education and protection in India. His extensive experience in consumer issues and financial literacy provided valuable insights to the students. During the session, Mr. Pandey addressed key topics such as Understanding Consumerism, Financial Literacy for Students, Consumer Rights and Responsibilities and Smart Spending and Saving. The sessions were interactive, with students posing questions related to real-life financial scenarios and consumer protection mechanisms. Mr. Pandey emphasized the importance of early financial planning and understanding one’s consumer rights in a rapidly evolving market.
