A short narration of the program
On 1st October 2024, the Commerce Department of St. Vincent College organized a guest lecture on the topic "AI in Finance", designed to provide students with an understanding of the growing role of Artificial Intelligence (AI) in the financial sector. The session highlighted how AI is revolutionizing finance-related industries by automating processes, enhancing decision-making, and driving innovation. The speaker emphasized the increasing use of AI tools in areas such as fraud detection, algorithmic trading, risk management, customer analytics, and financial forecasting. Examples of real-world applications illustrated the transformative impact of AI on the efficiency and accuracy of financial operations. The lecture also addressed how AI empowers businesses to analyze large volumes of data in real time, enabling quicker and more informed decision-making. The speaker elaborated on the ethical considerations and challenges in implementing AI, such as data privacy concerns and the need for human oversight in automated systems. The interactive session allowed students to engage with the speaker, asking questions about career prospects in AI-driven finance and how they can prepare for roles in this evolving domain. The speaker encouraged students to develop skills in data analysis, machine learning, and programming, which are increasingly in demand in the finance sector. The lecture was well-received by students, who appreciated the opportunity to learn about the integration of AI in their field of study. Faculty members commended the session for bridging the gap between academic learning and industry trends. This initiative by the Commerce Department reflects the college's commitment to equipping students with contemporary knowledge and skills, preparing them for the challenges of a rapidly evolving job market.
