A short narration of the program
Introduction: - A webinar was conducted and arranged by AICUF teams of St. Vincent's College, Pune and the Mumbai division, talking about the representation of women as well as talking about their struggles in a male dominated society. Objectives: - The two primary objectives of this webinar were- SOCIAL-AWARENESS: - as mentioned previously, the main aim of the social meeting was to spread awareness of women's struggles. As well as to openly talk about the struggles of our own women of AICUF with the comfort of their colleagues. It also aims at opening the eyes of girls to the lack of gender equality. SHAPING OF THE YOUTH: - this webinar was also conducted to shape our youth, specifically men, who in some part of India continue to stick to their unorthodox thinking, further adding to the problems of women. To educate our youth is a step in the right direction and help the future generations. Conclusion:- The webinar had successfully left an impact on everyone who had joined. It also achieved everything it aimed to do, opening the eyes of young women, as well as educating the youth. Having the girls and boys to ask questions to clear their doubts and share their experiences also made for a larger effective learning experience, as it put us in the shoes of the women. It also spoke about how women have to balance their own house as well as work. Solutions were asked by the youth on how to help or even erase this problem, which were answered by our patient and excellent spokesperson, Aileen Marques, who also shared her experience and her efforts made to bring even a minor change.
